

STRANGLER WAS CAUGHT BY KEEN VETERAN SLEUTH

Old Jersey City Detective's Prisoner Expected to Confess.

IDENTIFIED AS "DAVIS."

Capuzzi Declared to Be Man Who Murdered Sophie Kehrer.

The identification of "Charles Davis," arrested yesterday afternoon in Jersey City for the strangling of Sophie Kehrer, has been fully established. A full confession of how he choked the woman to death at No. 47 West Twenty-second street on July 9 is expected before he is in custody many more hours. In the First District Court today he was held at the request of the police.

Detective Sergeant Keenan, of Jersey City, who made the capture of the veteran policeman of the district around New York. Although nearly seventy years old and small of stature, he is energetic and strong—able to hold his own in a "rough house" at the drop of a hat.

Of recent years Keenan has been assigned to watch the pawnshops. He was engaged in that line yesterday when there was a big commotion in the street.

Keenan saw a man approaching on a bicycle. The bicycle was equipped with an automobile horn that made a noise like a brass band. Depending from the steering handles was a new suit case. The rider of the bicycle, with a blast of the horn that frightened all the horses on the block, swerved to the curb, dismounted, unfastened the suit case and entered the pawnshop.

The suit case was filled with divers ware that had been stolen from a hotel in Stroudsburg, Pa. Keenan saw the resemblance of the bicycle rider to the fugitive who killed Sophie Kehrer, and made an arrest that fittingly decorates the approach of the end of his career as a policeman.

Knew Him as Charles Davis. Edward Smith, who worked with Capuzzi for several months, was taken to Jersey City in the afternoon by Detective Peterson. He positively identified the man as Capuzzi, known to him as Charles Davis. The prisoner claimed he did not know Smith. Mrs. Charlotte Terhune and Miss Margaret Gallagher, who live in the rooming house where the murder was committed, were not sure of their identification of the prisoner.

Last evening Richard Wilson, of No. 27 Whiton street, Jersey City, identified the prisoner as the man who had gone to Moore's saloon, on that street, and taken away the case belonging to the Kehrer woman, saying he was going to carry it to the place where she was then living. Wilson knew the murdered woman well.

The strongest fact so far, against the prisoner, is a suit case, which was pawned in a Jersey City shop a few days after the murder. The prisoner has been identified as the man who pawned it, and pawn tickets for trinkets that had belonged to the woman were found in his pockets. Among his effects was a black negligee shirt, which is mentioned in the description of him sent out by the police.

The Prisoner's Story. The prisoner to-day said he was born near Naples, twenty-four years ago. Until two weeks ago he had lived at No. 47 West Third street, with a woman named Martino. He did not know the Kehrer woman, but upon being pressed with questions became greatly agitated and could scarcely speak. He said he left New York two weeks ago and went to Philadelphia, where he worked in an iron foundry. While there, he said, he roomed in the Salvation Army boarding house.

Sophie Kehrer had gone to live in a rooming house at No. 47 West Twenty-second street, with a man who said he was Charles Davis. The couple quarreled frequently. Immediately after the murder, Mrs. Kehrer's neighbors, who police believe his name to be, disappeared. The dead woman was identified by her husband, a resident of Hight.

PLAYED RACES AND FORGED.

Bookkeeper Held on Charge Made by Firm Losing $18,000.

Hugo Schaefflein, for six years bookkeeper for Mark & Strubler Importers, at No. 138 West street is a prisoner in the Tombs on the technical charge of forgery, preferred by Secretary Otto Schaefflein of the company, who says that Schaefflein's defalcations amount to $18,000, lost at races and cards.

On July 8th the prisoner is alleged to have erased the name on a draft, sent to the company and to have made false endorsements and used it to settle a private debt. Payment was refused and the matter reached the members of the firm. Mr. Schaefflein says Schaefflein confessed to three years of systematic defalcation. He waived examination and was held for the Grand Jury.

GIRL KEPT ON ELLIS ISLAND TO BE SET FREE

Washington Orders Suspension of Com. Watchorn's Star Chamber Proceedings.

Paula Klippenburg, the comely young Viennese who has been a victim of the star chamber methods of Immigration Commissioner Watchorn, has at last obtained recognition from Washington and will no longer be treated as a secret enemy of a Caesar.

Mr. Watchorn received peremptory orders from Commissioner Smith, of the Department of Commerce and Labor, today to reopen the hearing he had closed behind barred doors. He was also commanded to allow the girl to consult with her lawyer and to extend to her lawyer every courtesy of Ellis Island. Furthermore, he is instructed to allow the girl her freedom under $1,600 bail, which will be furnished some time today.

A Blow to the Commissioner. This will be a shock to the czar of our Immigration Gateway. He had recommended to the Department of Commerce and Labor that Miss Klippenburg be summarily deported as an improper young person to inhabit our shores. He had reached this conclusion upon consulting with Horace E. Miller, the wealthy Newark man whom the girl crossed the ocean to sue for breach of promise.

It was through the activity of Lawyer Edwin S. Merrill, of No. 12 Broadway, that the young woman has at last received recognition. He interviewed Commissioner Smith in Washington yesterday and related to him a history of the various moves in the case. He called attention to the fact that Commissioner Watchorn had denied him and his associate, Lawyer William Solomon, the privilege of consulting with their client. He pointed out how the Caesar of Ellis Island had arbitrarily forbidden Mr. Solomon from acting in the case, and had actually ordered him off the island as if it were his own private domain.

When Commissioner Smith heard this he asked for more details. He learned that the girl had not been examined by a proper interpreter. A Swede appeared at the hearing to interpret her German testimony, and the Swede admitted afterward that he was not acquainted with German. Likewise Mr. Merrill told him that the girl had not been allowed to produce any documentary proofs in her behalf and her lawyers had been prevented from inspecting these documents.

Girl Now Free to Tell Her Story. Commissioner Smith was enraged when he heard of the extraordinary conduct of the case by Mr. Watchorn. He rescinded everything he had done and ordered a new hearing. Miss Klippenburg may show at the new hearing that she received from Mr. Miller to her lawyers. She may read them in her defense. Also she will be allowed to produce photographs taken of her and the Newark millionaire when he was describing her in Berlin.

"They will not deport our client now," said the lawyer to-day. "For we shall be able to get a fair hearing under the immigration laws. We shall prove that this young woman is not the disreputable character she has been painted. And when she is free we shall see what she can do in proving the breach of promise suit she came over here to bring."

Found a Changed Man. When Mr. Merrill went to Ellis Island to arrange for the bail he found Commissioner Watchorn a changed man. He was willing to admit Miss Klippenburg to bail indefinitely.

He said, wearily, "The lawyer had attacked my staff, an interpreter, Michael Gluckman, an importer of cigars, of No. 10 Eldridge street. Gluckman said that he had met the girl in Paris several years ago at the home of relatives."

MAD DOG SINKS TEETH INTO THREE MEN AND A BOY

Women Coming from Boat Landing See Frenzied Canine and Scurry Back.

A mad dog bit four people and created consternation for twenty minutes today in the neighborhood of Washington Market, Vesey and West streets. Pursued by a crowd of merchants and boys and a few women, the dog first met Edward Burke, thirty-five years old, of No. 138 Charles street, and snapped the man's hand. Then the dog dodged several men waiting for it, and turned into Washington street, where it ran into Louis Meyrick, forty-eight, of No. 117 West street. Meyrick was bitten in the leg.

A little further on James Petty got in the dog's way and he was bitten in the ankle. He is only eleven years old, but he tried hard to stop the dog's onslaught, giving up only when the animal had lacerated his leg and escaped from his grasp. The boy lives at No. 92 Vesey street, and he went home after being treated at a nearby drug store by Dr. Kibbe, of the Hudson Street Hospital.

Several hundred people were in full chase of the dog by this time. In the animal's course was Edwin Crunk, nineteen years old, of No. 33 Washington street. Crunk wasn't able to get out of the way, and the dog caught him by the foot, and bit deep into both foot and leg.

Policeman William Dougherty, of the Church street station, had come up by this time, and he kicked the dog with his heavy boot. This caused the animal to change its course and it made in the direction of the Lacksawanna-Hoboken ferry-house. A ferry-boat had just finished unloading its passengers, many of them women, and there was a rush for shelter. The women screamed and one and all took refuge in the ferry-house.

Policeman Dougherty got the dog cornered in the carriage-way at the entrance to the boat and fired two shots, killing the animal. It was some time before the women could be persuaded that all danger was past, and left the ferry-house.

All of the four who were bitten were treated by Dr. Kibbe, of the Hudson Street Hospital, who responded to an ambulance call.

LABOR FEDERATION WILL FIGHT BOYCOTT SUI.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The Van Cleave suit against the general officers of the American Federation of Labor to enjoin boycotts, publication of unfair lists, etc., was discussed at today's meeting of the executive council of that organization. It was decided to contest the case, if necessary, to the highest tribunal. The members at the meeting generally declared they were committing no wrong and violating no law. The summons in the case requires them to answer within ten days.

"When she arrived here two weeks ago," said Gluckman, "I met her. She informed me that she was going to bring suit against Mr. Miller. She showed me several of the letters he had written to her. In one of them he spoke about her intended visit to America and threatened to kill her if she started any proceedings against him or in any way informed his wife of her relations to him. In another letter he said he would turn her over to the police, and this threat he succeeded in carrying out."

Commissioner Watchorn said that he could not fix any time for the rehearing. It is possible that the girl is admitted to bail who will not be further molested by the immigration authorities. Her lawyers say that they will at once begin the breach of promise proceedings against the Newark millionaire.

WESTERN UNION OPERATOR GOES CRAZY IN OFFICE

His Mad Shrieks and Rushes Drive Telegraphers Away From Their Keys.

There was excitement in the main operating-room of the Western Union Telegraph Company's Building, No. 136 Broadway, to-day when Harry Behneken, an operator who refused to join the strikers, became violently insane and dashed through the busy room shrieking like a Comanche Indian.

Pinkerton detectives and male operators ran after the crazy man, who darted in and out under telegraph tables, but he succeeded in eluding them for five minutes. The terrified young women operators left their key-boards and consternation ensued. A hurry call was sent to the Church street police station for help.

Behneken, who is twenty-five years old and lives at No. 143 Summer avenue, Brooklyn, shouted that the company had won the strike and his remarks were all relevant to the present troubles.

He took five men to hold him. The wild-eyed man was finally caught, but it took four men and Policeman William Roberts, of the Traffic Squad, to pin him to the floor. Behneken kept up yelling until passersby in Broadway were attracted.

Meanwhile the women operators had scattered through all parts of the building, and it was forty-five minutes before business was restored to its normal condition.

The Church street police reserves arrived and relieved the scared operators from their job of controlling Behneken. He was taken to the Church street station.

Ambulance Surgeon Kibbe, of the Hudson Street Hospital, examined Behneken and said he was suffering from delirium induced by lack of sleep and overwork.

Behneken, who at one time was a member of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union, was employed in the Central News Department of the Western Union. Capt. Dealey, who was treated at Bellevue Hospital.

The young wife of the insane man was summoned by Supt. Dealey, and was accompanied Behneken to the hospital. She said that she had urged her husband to quit work during the strike, but he refused to leave his key. On the way to the psychopathic ward Behneken prayed for an early settlement of the strike. The telegraph officials admitted that Behneken had been working long hours lately.

Neill Due Here To-Morrow.

Charles P. Neill, United States Labor Commissioner, is expected in New York to-morrow, when it is said he will get into conference with Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Daniel J. Keefe, officers of the American Federation of Labor, looking to a possible adjustment of the differences between the telegraph companies and the striking operators.

President Small, of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union, in calling upon the United States and Canada to take over the control of the lines of the Western Union telegraph companies, is said to be preparing a bitter campaign. He will ask a Congressional investigation of the conduct of the companies, and it is said has the backing of the majority of the leaders of the American Federation of Labor.

Small's Campaign Plan.

In an appeal sent out from Chicago, President Small asked all advocates of Government ownership of control of public utilities to demand that the Government take this radical action.

He first announced the establishment of two funds, one to be a general strike fund and the other a fund to pay expenses of a campaign to obtain government action. His bulletins say:

Telegraphers in Particular. In General and in Particular. We say a $100,000 fund must be raised within the next sixty days and a portion of it set aside to be used to carry on a campaign in favor of the Government taking over control of the telegraph. Start two funds at once—one to be used exclusively for the benefit of those on strike and the other to be divided equally—that is, 50 per cent. to go into the strike expense fund and 50 per cent. into the Government ownership campaign fund.

Attempt Made to Kill Two Operators.

Vice-President Nally, of the Postal Telegraph Company, announced this afternoon that an attempt was made early to-day to kill the manager and one operator on duty at the important New York office at Ann Street. The office was fired into three different times between midnight and daylight.

There were two union operators on duty at Ann Street when the strike was called and they went out. Chief Operator Swain remained loyal to the company and the telegraph to have made the office he and his assistant would doubtless have been murdered. The town police force of New York consists of one Quaky sheriff. Chief Operator Swain has been instructed to hire armed guards.

STOCKS RALLIED AND CLOSED STRONG

Trading Tide Turned After Wall Street Had Read Roosevelt's Speech.

Prices of stocks crumbled away in the early trading on the stock market again today under the influence of sharp liquidation in the New York City traction stocks, and an attack on Union Pacific, Reading and the metal stocks.

Lower prices than any before recorded since the present declining movement began were reached in the New York City Traction and the United States Steel stocks, and Pennsylvania Railroad sold very near the lowest price reached in this downward movement.

Interborough-Metropolitan preferred and Brooklyn Rapid Transit declined 2 1/4 points, Metropolitan Street Railway 2, and Reading and Smelting 2 1/4. Pennsylvania and United States Steel preferred dropped 1 1/4, and Amalgamated Copper, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific upward of 1 point.

The upward movement proceeded until the last was quoted five eighths of a point higher than yesterday's closing. A decling movement was in progress in the market when that portion of the President's speech defining the intentions of the Administration with regard to corporations violating the law was circulated. Prices of the stocks declined about a point, but later made a complete recovery of the day's losses, and toward the last hour established a level generally higher than at any previous hour. Trading was in a moderate volume throughout and became dull on each decline.

The total sales of stocks to-day were $5,800 shares and $1,200,000 of bonds.
